OUR COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

Is Occurring This Week, With Big Crowds.

THE PROGRAMS AS ARRANGED

Present a Splendid Order of Exercises, Interesting to Everybody.

FINE ENDING OF A GOOD YEAR

The annual commencement exercises of Hartford College began Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. A. N. Couch, of Owensboro, at the Baptist Church. The building was seated to its fullest capacity. The graduating class assembled in the court house yard and marched in a body to the church, where seats had been reserved for them. The sermon was one of the finest ever delivered here. Classic in diction, eloquent in delivery and comprehensive in its broad meaning, it embraced beautiful thought and the soundest scriptural doctrine as applied to educational themes. It was highly complimented on all sides.

A special feature of the occasion was the music. A picked choir rendered two anthems and other songs, and Miss Sue Wright sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mr. Emory Schroeter on the violin, with Miss Effie Render at the organ. Miss Wright has a splendid voice of rare sweetness and she gave a touching pathos to her selection, which was classic in its rendition. The song service was splendid in its entirety, the best that has been heard here in a long while and was much complimented by many who heard it.

On Monday and Tuesday nights the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grades, under Profs. Hedrick and Ellis, held forth at Dr. Bean's Opera House with interesting programs and to large audiences. The following is the order of entertainment for the balance of the week:

Wednesday.

WHEN ORPHAN BRIGADE WAS DISAPPOINTED

Rockport, Ky., May 15.—While the Orphan Brigade, C. S. A. was encamped at Beech Grove, Tenn., General Bragg sent an order through General Hardee's headquarters, directing the Colonel of the regiment to take his own and another regiment and go as far as possible toward Murfreesboro. General Hardee received the order, and preparation immediately began for the march, but General Hardee considered the order too loose, not definite enough to put into execution by such a commander as Col. Hunt, with such men as were embraced in the Orphan Brigade. So General Hardee immediately rode over to General Bragg's headquarters and told him it would not do to start Hunt out with such an order as that, for he and those Kentuckians "would not stop this side of hell." The order was immediately countermanded, and the boys went to bed wondering where they were to have gone, and kicking like bay steers for being knocked out of the trip.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY WILL MEET TO-MORROW

Evansville, Ind., May 11.—The General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of the United States will meet here May 18 and remain in session for six days. The sessions of the convention will be held in the Jefferson-avenue Cumberland Presbyterian church, which was recently built. Between 3,000 and 4,000 ministers and lay-members are expected to attend. Missionaries from many parts of the world will be here to make reports. Each State in the Union where the Cumberland Presbyterian Church has a foothold will send from one to ten delegates. The assembly will open on Thursday with an address by Moderator J. H. Fussel, of Columbia, Tenn.

EXAMINER UNCOVERS VERY CROOKED WORK

Frankfort, Ky., May 13.—There has been some very crooked work according to the report of State Bank Examiner Snyder, who found shortage in the Bank of Willard, in Carter county, which was received at Secretary of State's office this morning. This is one of the banks that refused to sign the agreement with other State banks to have bank examiners appointed by the Secretary of State.

The examination disclosed that the total loss will be $16,272.11, including the shortage of $5,425, while the capital and surplus amount to $16,204, so that the stockholders will lose only $67.

This is one of the banks organized by W. J. Rice, who is now under indictment in connection with the failure of the Imperial Bank of Olive Hill.

KNELT IN PRAYER AND COMMITTED SUICIDE

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11.—While Ensign Payton, of the Salvation Army, was exhorting penitents to come forward and confess their sins last night, Frank A. Campbell, aged twenty-four, a Kentuckian, walked up the aisle, knelt in prayer for a moment, and then drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his right breast. He died shortly afterward at a hospital. He had been here three months and was in ill health.

AS MEMBERS OF LIVERMORE MOB

Alleged Participants Are Arrested

AND CHARGED WITH MURDER

Eighteen True Bills Returned by Calhoun Grand Jury.

BIG STIR IN McLEAN COUNTY

As a result of the most vigorous instructions ever given a grand jury in Western Kentucky by Circuit Judge T. F. Birkhead, eighteen indictments were returned Friday against alleged members of the mob that lynched Will Potter, a negro, in the Livermore Opera House on the night of April 21. The indictments were returned at Calhoun.

The three alleged leaders of the mob were indicted separately, and each was charged with murder. They are as follows:

Lawrence Mitchell, brother of Clarence Mitchell, who was shot by the negro who was lynched.

Clifton Schroeter, proprietor of a floating studio.

Jesse Schroeter, a photographer.

The names of the other men indicted are as follows: Ellis Thornberry, W. N. Davis, Cecil Jarvis, Ira Coghill, John Fielden, John W. Taylor, Sam Colburn, William H. Corhill, Tom Dabner, George Gepharr, Robert Hays, Leslie Wright, Edward Haney, Clarence Roberts, Ellis Burton.

Twelve of the men were taken without trouble, nine being placed in jail in Calhoun and the others being held at Livermore.

The bonds of the alleged principals in the lynching were placed at $1,000, and $500 was the amount of surety demanded of the men charged with being accessories in the blanket indictment. W. N. Davis and Cecil Jarvis were released, having arranged for the necessary surety.

Practically all of the men indicted are well known in Livermore and McLean county, and the news of the action of the grand jury came like a thunderbolt from a clear sky.

The McLean county grand jury, composed of grim, determined farmers, had been working on the case all week. About fifty witnesses were called to give testimony. They were examined by Commonwealth's Attorney Ben D. Ringo and County Attorney Richard Alexander.

The scenes in Livermore when the accused were arrested were pitiful in the extreme. The weeping of wives and sisters over the arrest of their loved ones was heartrending, and the day will be one long to be remembered by the residents of the little river city.

County Attorney Alexander declared that he would use all the means within his power to erase the blot on the fair name of McLean county.

The indictments are the result of the action of an armed mob that shot William Potter to death on the stage of the theater at Livermore a few weeks ago. It is alleged that Clarence Mitchell, a young white man at Livermore, and the negro, who was employed in a poolroom, became engaged in a difficulty. Mitchell went out on the street, and it is stated that as he was leaving the place, he was shot and, at the time, thought to be fatally wounded. The negro was arrested by the town marshal. There was bitter feeling against him, and in a few minutes an angry crowd had gathered. The marshal handcuffed his prisoner, and with two or three guards, hustled him to the theater, fearing the town lockup would be unsafe.

The doors of the theater were locked and all of the lights were extinguished in the building. The members of the mob, said to be about twenty-five or fifty in number, forced the door of the theater and gained entrance to the building.

Before the officers had time to rush the negro from the building, a volley of shots rang out, and the negro sank to the floor. The members of the mob, having accomplished their purpose, left the building.

It was several days before the body of the negro was buried, the colored people of the town declaring that he was a strange negro and had not behaved himself since coming to Livermore from Tennessee. It was necessary for the white people to bury him.

Mitchell, who was shot and wounded by the negro, has about recovered from his wounds and will get well.

The better element of citizens of McLean county deeply deplore the action of the mob, and were strong in their calls for the indictment of the members of the lawless band.

Big Crowd Arrested—Some Executed Bond.

Calhoun, Ky., May 13.—All the members of the Livermore mob who were indicted by the McLean county grand jury have been arrested except five. Eighteen were indicted and 13 have been arrested. Six have executed bond and seven are in the Calhoun jail.

Those who have been arrested are Lawrence Mitchell, Jesse Schroeter and Clifton Schroeter, the three principals who were indicted on the charge of murder, the result of the killing of William Potter, colored at Livermore, on April 20, Potter having shot and wounded Clarence Mitchell, a young white man, and brother of Lawrence Mitchell. The others arrested, on the charge of aiding and abetting the principals and being accessories before the fact, are W. N. Davis, Cecil Jarvis, Ira Coghill, John F. Fielden, John W. Taylor, Wm. H. Coghill, Robert Hays, Sam Colburn and Clarence Roberts.

Those who have executed bond are Lawrence Mitchell, Jesse Schroeter, Ellis Thornberry, Ira Coghill, W. H. Coghill, W. N. Davis and Robert Hays. The others are in jail.

Hays learned of the indictment against him, and came to Calhoun and surrendered to Sheriff Beeler. He was taken to Livermore, where he executed bond.

Clarence Roberts says that there is another Clarence Roberts at Livermore, and that the other Clarence Roberts is the one whom the grand jury is after. Roberts will be taken to Livermore by the officers, and if they are convinced there is another Clarence Roberts, and he is the one meant by the grand jury, the first Clarence Roberts will be released. Thornberry, one of the men arrested, was recently married.

BOYS WHIP MOTHER, NEIGHBORS CHARGE

Madisonville, Ky., May 13.—Charged with brutally whipping their mother with a "black snake" whip, Mac and Walter White, aged nineteen and twenty, respectively, were arrested to-day on an indictment drawn up Wednesday by the grand jury. Neighbors appeared before the jury and testified that the two boys had been beating their widowed mother for the past six months, one holding her and the other applying the whip. The neighbors testified also that the boys threatened to burn their homes if they interfered. They are lodged in jail and will be given a hearing Tuesday.

BREATHITT COUNTY IS NOW WITHOUT A JAILER

Jackson, Ky., May 11.—Breathitt county, for the second time within the last eighteen months, is without a jailer. Wesley Turner, Sr., having resigned this office, to which he was appointed after the assassination of his son, Wesley Turner, Jr. Wesley Turner, Jr., had only served a little over two years of his term at the time he was killed.

County Judge Hagins to-day placed the jail and other county buildings in charge of the Sheriff, pending his consideration of the appointment of the jailer. The new appointee will only serve until the November election, when a jailer will be elected. There are already four candidates for the office.

Annual Encampment.

Frankfort, Ky., May 12.—Louisville will get the annual encampment of the Kentucky National Guard for 1911. This was determined on to-day by Adjutant General Johnston, who says the intercal parties there have agreed to meet the requirements of the State Department. The camp will be held during July.

VENGEANCE OF MEXICAN WIDOW

Wreaked on Murderer of Her Idols.

HAD PURSUED HIM FOR WEEKS

And Offered Big Reward for His Capture—Laid a Net for Him.

SHOT AT EDGE OF OPEN GRAVE

Douglas, Ariz., May 13.—The widow Talamantes, who took the field as an insurrecto commander after her husband and two sons, whom she idolized, had been shot as rebels by command of Colonel Chlapas, won to-day, in full measure, her revenge when that man, on whose head she had set the price of $20,000 gold, rode into an ambush in her camp.

"Don't shoot to kill!" commanded the woman who has won the name de guerre of the Joan of Arc of the Mexican revolution.

"Remember, he's my prisoner."

The aim of her soldiers was good. They brought Colonel Chlapas from his galloping horse with a bullet wound in the neck and another in the arm.

Chlapas rolled over in pain and then looked up straight into the eyes of the widow Talamantes, which blazed like those of a tiger met in the dark.

Colonel Chlapas took no account of his injuries after that. He lay bleeding on the sand, a pleading look in his eye, but his lips asking no favors, while the widow, resting on her rifle, stood over him in contemplation.

Finally she whispered in the wounded man's ear—only a few words. His pale face blanched whiter still and his lips compressed into a thinner line, but he gave no other sign that he had heard.

The widow Talamantes signaled to her men and turned away. Colonel Chlapas was picked up and carried to a tent.

Just as the red rim of the sun appeared over the eastern horizon, a woman's voice gave a sharp command. There was the quick roll of fire from a dozen rifles and a tottering figure, standing on the edge of a newly made grave, crumpled up, quivering and lay motionless on the edge of the trench.

One of the men of the firing squad advanced and turned the body over with his foot, saw that 10 of the bullets had found their mark, and then tumbled it ever into the grave.

So the widow Talamantes took revenge for the slaying of her husband and two sons by Chlapas, of the Federal army.

The pursuit, capture and execution of Colonel Chlapas form the most dramatic incident of the Mexican revolution.

The Talamantes, father and two sons, were suspected of revolutionary leanings at the beginning of the war. They were rich, employed a large number of laborers, and wielded great influence in Sonora. They were captured on a Federal raid by Colonel Chlapas, then in command of the Sonora District, and executed within sight of their hacienda.

Before the Talamantes were shot, the wife and mother pleaded vainly with Colonel Chlapas to spare their lives. Her appeals were met with sneering replies, and the woman soon found that she was dealing with a man brutalized by drink.

Later she heard the shots that announced the death of the three persons she loved best in all the world. From that moment Colonel Chlapas was a marked man. The widow published an offer of $20,000 gold for the capture and giving into her hands of Colonel Chlapas, but none could penetrate the guard of Federal soldiers that Chlapas kept about him.

Then the widow took the field at the head of a revolutionary force made up of her employees and friends, and commanded it, with the skill of a veteran, in several battles and skirmishes.

Her force grew to be one of the largest revolutionary bands in Sonora, and all the time it was drawing nearer and nearer to the command of Colonel Chlapas.

But the widow feared that her opportunity might not come in open battle and had a subtler plan. She supplied men with money to go into Agua Prieta and meet Colonel Chlapas on the plane of good fellowship and ply him with wine. She knew that the Federals were to evacuate Agua Prieta Wednesday and told her men to be sure that Colonel Chlapas went to bed drunk and slept soundly that night.

Yesterday morning about 3 o'clock Colonel Chlapas awoke. He found the good fellows who had been with him gone and the city deserted. The Federal forces, he was told, were 20 miles away. Chlapas stormed at the men who had betrayed and deserted him and then commanded an Arabian horse belonging to Don Porfirio Terrazas and said to be the fleetest in Sonora. He rode like mad through the dark and coming dawn after the retreating army.

The widow Talamantes cut the line of Federal retreat about 10 miles out of Agua Prieta and established an ambush. She waited until the sound of rapid hoof beats came from Agua Prieta and Colonel Chlapas, in a vain race for life, galloped in among her men on a foam-flecked and exhausted horse.

G. A. R. MEETS NEXT YEAR IN LOUISVILLE

The two days' session of the department of the Grand Army of the Republic came to a close at Owensboro Saturday afternoon. Following the installation of the officers who were elected on Friday afternoon, Louisville was selected as the place of the next meeting to be held in May, 1912.

The following officers were elected and then installed by Commander-in-chief Gilman:

Charles Clay Dearman, of Springdale, department commander; John Barr, of Lebanon, senior vice commander; W. H. L. Hughes, Owensboro, junior vice commander; W. H. L. Hughes, Owensboro, re-elected historian; Dr. William Bowman, of Vanceburg, medical director; H. T. Truman, of Fordsville, chaplain. The following comrades were elected representatives to the national encampment, which will be held in Rochester, N. Y., in August: E. W. Chenault, Lexington; D. F. Goode, Owensboro; G. S. Pierce, Livia; Ed Farley, Paducah, and J. H. Ashcraft, Paducah.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT FILED AGAINST COAL COMPANY

Morganfield, Ky., May 15.—One of the largest damage suits filed in the Union county Circuit Court for a long time has been filed by attorneys of Mrs. Sallie Kuykendall, administratrix for her son, William Kuykendall. The West Kentucky Coal company, and Sturgis Electric Light company, of Sturgis, are made defendants in the suit for $25,000 damages, the petition of the plaintiffs stating that he was employed by both companies. The petition alleges negligence on the part of both defendant companies. The attorneys for the plaintiffs are Morton & Morton of this city, and George S. Wilson of Owensboro.

WHITESVILLE WILL BE REBUILT AND FIREPROOF

The little town of Whitesville has adopted a policy which means that the rebuilt town will be better than the old, for at a mass meeting of the citizens it was determined that building permits must be secured from the board of trustees, before any buildings are erected in the limits of the town. The trustees state that they will not sanction the erection of any buildings unless they are of non-combustible material, that is, stone, brick or concrete.

Practically all of those who suffered a loss by the fire have announced their intention of rebuilding and it is generally believed that within a few weeks many of the places will be under course of construction.

Judge Birkhead at Hardinsburg.

Judge T. F. Birkhead is in Hardinsburg this week, where he was appointed by Gov. Wilson to hold court for one week on account of the illness of Judge Chelf, who has been in bad health for several months. Judge Birkhead relieved Judge Moss, who opened the term for Judge Chelf.

GAVE UP AND JUAREZ FELL

Gen. Navarro Surrendered
Sword.

FIERCEST FIGHT OF THE WAR

Lasting Two Days, Left the Historic Little City
Bullet-Ridden.

VICTOR KIND TO VANQUISHED

Ciudad Juarez, May 10.—After the bloodiest battle of the Mexican revolution, this city fell to-day as a stronghold of President Diaz. Tonight, bullet-ridden, blackened and in ruins, it blossomed forth as the provisional capital of Mexico, and proudly sends forth its vivas for Provisional President Francisco I. Madero, Jr., who is its guest and conqueror.

General Juan J. Navarro, his head bowed, surrendered his garrison of 500 men, together with his staff officers, at noon. They asked no mercy. But they reckoned without their host.

The brave General, who fought like a hero, and his 27 officers were paroled to-night by General Madero. After inviting them to dinner he announced that if they would promise on their honor not to leave the city, they could have the liberty of the town. They agreed and are sleeping at their own headquarters to-night.

Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the conqueror, surrounded by members of his family and his staff, joyous, exultant and flushed with victory, is ready, he says, to make peace with the Mexican Government if it is disposed to deal frankly and sincerely with the revolutionists, and without "such vague promises as President Diaz's manifesto contains."

In hotel lobbies, store fronts and hallways the improvised hospitals of the battlefield, are scores of wounded, attended by a host of physicians and nurses from El Paso who have volunteered medical relief.

The floors of the Parfiro Diaz Hotel, where 30 wounded lay to-night, are covered with blood-soaked clothing.

"The fortunes of war," mumbled an insurrecto soldier to-night, as he stood with tears in his eyes over the body of a Federal soldier whom he had known for years.

The actual surrender of the town by General Navarro took place about 1 o'clock. General Navarro giving his sword to Colonel Garibaldi, of the insurrecto army, after the rebels had surrounded the barracks and threatened to annihilate the garrison within.

His eyes dimmed as he surrendered, but Colonel Garibaldi, with a handshake that bespoke his admiration for the brave fight the Federal leader had made, assured him of the desire of the rebels to afford him every courtesy.

A score of rebel officers rode up and extended to the Federal commander their sympathy as Mexicans for him and his men. There is the same fraternal sentiment to-night in the hearts of the entire insurrecto army for their countrymen who have been defeated, but everywhere are hard words of opprobrium for President Diaz, whom they hold responsible for the loss of life and the suffering of the wounded.

General Madero himself, when he arrived this afternoon at the corral where the Federal prisoners are quartered, made an address full of sympathy and encouragement, lauding them for their bravery and assuring them that in his heart, as well as in those of his men, there was no feeling of enmity, but of uniform friendliness.

"You fought for General Diaz," he declared at the conclusion of his speech, "because you had to; because you were a part of that system which we are trying to dissolve. In a few days perhaps peace will be restored. You soon will be free. If the war is to be continued, you can have your choice of being paroled or joining the army of liberation. In the meantime we shall treat you as brothers, not as foes."

With shouts of "Viva Madero" the vast throng of prisoners and insurrectos who gathered to hear him threw their hats skyward and shouted in most deafening applause.

A few moments later down the main thoroughfare was heard the galloping of horses and soon the insurrecto standard, the Mexican national colors, flashed in the sunlight. Behind it rode Mrs. Francisco I. Madero, Jr., and an escort of cavalry.

Principal Events in Mexican Revolution up to Date.

June 26, 1910.—Diaz re-elected President over Francisco I. Madero, whose adherents allege governmental control of the election.

Nov. 19.—Madero, who had fled to the United States, re-enters Mexico to take charge of the revolution that had been planned.

Nov. 27.—Rebels are defeated and insurrection is reported crushed.

Dec. 1.—Diaz is reinaugurated President.

Feb. 2, 1911.—Orozco carries fighting to Juarez, but fails to attack city.

March 7.—Madero defeats the federalists at Casas Grandes.

March 10.—United States troops are mobilized on the border.

March 12.—Rebels are repulsed after investing Agua Prieta.

March 24.—Diaz's cabinet is reorganized and Limantour becomes premier.

April 23.—Armistice signed by Madero and Diaz.

May 5.—Madero rejects peace terms and demands Diaz's retirement.

May 7.—Diaz in manifesto promises to resign when peace is restored.

May 8.—Rebel attack is begun on Juarez.

May 10.—Rebels under Madero take Juarez, together with General Navarro and his army; Agua Prieta given up by federalists.

OPPORTUNITY RIGHT
HERE IN OLD KENTUCKY

Champ Clark's advice, "Go South, young man," threatens to become as immortal as Horace Greeley's "Go West." The eloquent Speaker was bred in old Kentucky and struck a responsive chord in our hearts. His suggestion will open the eyes of many discontented young men who yearn for the Golden West, to the opportunities that lie in their own door yard.

Our Southland is susceptible of greater things than the blizzard-swept North and West, or the irrigation-demanding Southwest.

Right here in the cheap knob lands of Kentucky lies a splendid opportunity for the investor with small capital to make a pretty fortune. These lands are ridiculously cheap, selling anywhere from $1 to $3 an acre, and they are wonderfully adapted to fruit growing. The finest apples and peaches are grown here year after year. The altitude of these lands is so high that they are immune from the disastrous frosts which ruin the fruit trees in the lowlands. The flavor of the fruit, especially the apples, grown here has no superior and few equals. Get busy! Set out orchards and create a demand for Kentucky fruit—then supply the demand.

TRYING TO PUT AN END TO "KINGDOM OF SATAN"

Washington, May 12.—Representative Irvin S. Pepper, the new Iowa insurrecto Republican, wants the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule to be formally declared by Congress to be the standard of measure for the laws and regulations of the United States, "regardless of sex, nationality, creed or party."

He introduced a bill for this purpose in the House to-day. It embodies the platform of the Christian party. It sets forth that the way to carry these principles into effect is to have a right ground and income tax, abolish the army and navy, stop the liquor traffic, refrain from unsettling business by frequent unjust tariff legislation, and provide for the direct election of all public officials by the people, women included.

Thus, says the bill, will "the kingdom of Satan" be ended in the United States.

BANK CASHIER SAVED OLD MAN

From Being Fleeced by Bunko Men.

SHARPERS AT AN OLD GAME

Innocent Old Man Was Almost Persuaded to Give Up Cash.

AN INCIDENT OF CIRCUS DAY

The Madisonville Hustler says: The thoughtfulness of Cashier W. E. Wooten, of the Madisonville Savings Bank, prevented J. R. Masoncup, an old gentleman of this city, from being skinned out of $500 Saturday by sharpers who had the old man "going some."

Mr. Masoncup was well known to Mr. Wooten, both having come from the Hanson country. He accumulated a modest competency on a farm and moved to Madisonville several years ago on account of advancing age. Mr. Wooten was familiar with his financial condition and his peculiarities.

When Mr. Masoncup appeared at the bank Saturday morning about eleven o'clock, and wanted to draw out $500 in cash, the cashier suggested that it was somewhat dangerous for a man of his age to have that much money about him on circus day and advised Mr. Masoncup to give his check to whoever he intended to pay the money. He told him in that way he would run no risk whatever of losing the money or being robbed. The old gentleman informed the cashier that the man he was to pay to told him he wanted nothing but the money.

The cashier urged the old man not to take the money and finally prevailed on him to take a certified check for the amount, but considerably against his will in the matter. Shortly before one o'clock Mr. Masoncup again saw the cashier and told him the man wouldn't take the check, but wanted the cash.

The cashier began to smell a mouse. He reasoned that if it was a legitimate transaction about the payment of money for anything the old man owed or had just bought, the party would have no objection to taking a certified check and stepping down to the bank and having it cashed. It occurred to him that a skin game was framed up and that sharpers had hold of him. In order to gain time, the cashier told him it would be a few minutes before the bank opened and took him in a private room and began to talk to him. He explained to Mr. Masoncup that something must be wrong about the party not wanting to take a check—a certified one—that was as good as money itself in any straight transaction. He begged him to confide the facts to him.

After much persuasion the old man told Mr. Wooten that a nice looking man had approached him and wanted him to take an electric belt and give a testimonial about its merits. The nice gentleman told him if he could get such a testimonial, it would enable him to sell everybody around here a belt, as he understood he was a man who stood high. The nice man offered to pay him $500 in cash for the testimonial but before he would do so, Mr. Masoncup must show that he had as much as $500, as proof of his reliability. A pal, a large, fine looking fellow, who gave his name as Davis, was present and had agreed to give a testimonial and produced his $500, whereupon the belt man counted him out $500 and took his testimonial. The old man inquired where Davis lived and he replied, "Why, I live just south of town." The old man had never seen the man, but the name Davis sounded good to him and seeing him receive $500 for the testimonial about the belt, upon showing the belt man that he had $500 himself, old man Masoncup struck out for the bank to get his $500 to show the belt man.

In the meantime Walter Gatlin had come in and he helped to ease the old man down, but it was after a great deal of explanation that it was a sharper's trick and much entreaty that they finally induced the old man to let the money stay. Finally Marshal Graddy was called for without the old man's knowing it, was sent with him to his home and the matter explained to his daughter and she persuaded the old man to leave the certified check with her and it was returned to the bank for cancellation.

There is no doubt in the world but what the old man would have been skinned "good and proper," had it not been for the prudence of Cashier Wooten in the matter.

THE SOUTH'S PROBLEMS ARE NATION'S PROBLEMS

The South has no problems that are not the nation's problems. The South no longer sets itself apart from the rest of the nation. Our destiny will be controlled by all the 90,000,000 people of the United States. There is no race question in the South. It has been adjusted. The white man will control, because he is about 5,000 years ahead of the negro in the accomplishments of civilization. The negro himself will develop along his own lines.

Our traditions are the same as those of New England—same in substance, different only in form. The smoke from millions of factory stacks has not deadened the veneration of the New Englander for his Puritan ancestors. The transition of the South from a purely agricultural and manufacturing region will not stifle the love of the Southerners for the heroic qualities displayed by their fathers in the struggle of 50 years ago. To-day the Southerner and the New Englander rejoice alike that Grant and Lee and that Longfellow and Sidney Lanier were great Americans.—[Leslie's Weekly.

SNATCHED CHILD FROM DEATH BENEATH WHEELS

Kenton, O., May 11.—Standing on the pilot of a Big Four train that was bearing rapidly down upon a little girl in the center of a bridge spanning the Scioto river here, J. W. Smuck, of Carey, reached out and grasped up the child from the track as the engine passed over the spot where she had stood.

The child, about 6 years old, was crossing the bridge when suddenly she saw the train, which had been switching in the yard, approaching. Screaming, she crouched to leap to the river 40 feet below. The scream attracted the attention of the brakeman on the pilot. Realizing that it was too late to stop the engine, Smuck made his heroic rescue.

Using supreme nerve in the moment of need, he collapsed after hearing the child to safety, and the girl ran away before her name could be learned. A little brother of the girl, who was going across the bridge with her, saw the train in time to leap out upon a stone abutment that bears up the bridge and spreads out beyond the track.

A QUEER INCUBATOR— BEES HATCH DUCK EGGS

Lawrenceburg, Ind., May 12.—Captain C. V. Bryant, of Versailles, has an inventive and original turn of mind, and a thought occurred to him a few weeks ago that heat generated by a hive of bees might be used to hatch eggs.

The Captain tacked a piece of linen across the inside of a bee hive immediately above the bees, and on this he placed raw cotton, depositing thereon 19 Indian Runners duck eggs.

The eggs were covered with cotton and deerskin. Above all a board was placed in order to retain all the heat generated by the bees. Ten ducklings were hatched. Captain Bryant will run his bee incubator all summer.

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. When the digestion fails, the whole body suffers. Chamberlain's Tablets are a rational and reliable cure for indigestion. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood, strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action. For sale by all dealers.

THE BIG FOUR-MILE ENDURANCE RACE

To Be Run in Kentucky Next Fall, Attracting Much Attention.

The four-mile Endurance Stakes, to be run next fall on one of the Kentucky tracks, the association offering the largest purse getting the attraction, is creating comment not alone on this continent, but in England as well. A letter received by a member of the New Louisville Jockey Club tells that in England news of the big race is being discussed. Endurance contests are popular abroad, and turfmen there are pleased to see a revival of long-distance events on the American turf.

Already, two turfmen of distinction in Canada are planning to nominate starters in the race. Mr. Dymont will name Chief Kee, and Dr. Davis will start Fair Annie. The gold cup, to be donated by the Kentucky Racing Commission, and the distinction accruing to the winner, is quite as attractive to these wealthy Canadians as the big guaranteed value to be added to the race.

"Farmer Bill" Scully, of New York, writes that he is already looking around for a suitable racer for the Endurance Stakes. He is certain to find one. Countless and Meadows are regarded as certain starters. Frank Hoxan will acquire a racer to start in the race. There will be several others, all of exceptional class, and if the best long-distance horses in American are prepared for this interesting event, Col. M. J. Winn, of the New Louisville Jockey Club, will not hesitate to add a sum of money larger than heretofore mentioned in connection with this interesting event. It is expected that the value of the race will be no less than $10,000, and the New Louisville Jockey Club confidently expects to have the stake for its stellar attraction this fall.

SAY ALFALFA HELPS HOGS

Increases Their Size and General Looks.

IS ALSO CHEAPER THAN CORN

Contend That Hogs Fed On Alfalfa Will Not Have Cholera.

WINE SEEM TO THRIVE ON IT

Kansas City, Mo., May 13.—Is alfalfa responsible for the increased size and decreased price of the hogs that come into the Kansas City market? Stockyard company officials believe it is one of the principal reasons, though of course other factors are to be considered.

Only a year ago the complaint was made that there was a scarcity of hogs in the country. It was believed the supply was so low that it would take five or six years to bring it back to the normal, but in the old days it was customary to allow for a considerable percentage of loss of hogs on account of disease, particularly hog cholera. Then, too, there had grown up a practice among farmers of marketing a good many hogs that had not attained their full growth and were really light.

All last winter and this spring there have been coming to Kansas City a stream of fat, well developed hogs weighing on an average nearly twenty-five pounds more than the hogs that came a year ago.

On an average they are the smoothest, best looking lot of hogs that have been on the market in years and there are so many more of them than anybody expected that the price takes an occasional drop and offers no promise of going the other way.

The first explanation is that there has been very little cholera in the country; then that there was an extraordinary supply of corn and the farmers held the hogs longer to clean up the corn, and that the feeding was liberal all through the winter and the hogs grew fast.

The absence of cholera the farmers attribute to the alfalfa. In the last few years farmers all over Kansas and Oklahoma and some parts of Missouri have found that there are very few farms without some acres that will grow alfalfa. Formerly it was supposed that only certain kinds of soil would grow it and that the bottom land was the only place for alfalfa.

The farmers have learned that alfalfa is cheaper than corn for hogs and, when fed with corn, makes better hogs. It is said that herds of hogs, that graze on alfalfa part of the time rarely have cholera.

"The belief is growing down here," said Eugene Rust, general manager of the Stockyards company, yesterday, "that alfalfa has had more to do with the surprisingly large number of hogs raised in the country last year than any other cause. The usual allowance for hogs dying of disease cannot be made this year and the fact that nearly every pig of last year lived to grow to a marketable size, accounts for the increased number of hogs. The big corn crop and the general use of alfalfa account for the increased size. But prices are not materially lowered, so that the grower continues to make good profit. Hogs can be grown much cheaper when they run on pasture than any other way, so with reduced prices, he is still making money."

PRELIMINARIES—THEN THEY GOT TO FIGHTING

Bishop Woodcock, of Kentucky, was discussing the Southern mountaineers, among whom he has lived and worked for many years. The question of family feuds was brought up and the Bishop related the following anecdote:

"A certain family had attended a reunion, which terminated in a free-for-all fight. The offenders were taken before the local Justice of the Peace, who questioned an old woman as to the particulars of the fight. Her description was typical of the mountaineer's attitude toward strife and bloodshed.

"Well, Judge," she said, "Jem Lewis got into an argument with Hank Budds. Budds smashed Jem over the head with a stick of cordwood, busting his head open. Then Jem's brother slashed Hank up with a butcher knife, and Lou Barry shot him through the leg. Larry Stover went at Lou with an ax and then, Judge, we just naturally got to fighting."

ASKS FREEDOM FOR HIS PEOPLE

Filipino Leader Makes Eloquent Appeal.

PROMISE OF UNITED STATES

Made Thirteen Years Ago Should Be Fulfilled, He Urges.

SOME FILIPINO CELEBRITIES

Washington, May 12.—In an interview, Manuel L. Quezon, one of the resident Commissioners of the Philippine Islands, has made a bold demand for Filipino independence, declaring it is high time the United States made good its promise of thirteen years ago that his people would be held as wards only until they were fit for self-government.

"As the representative of the eight million people of the Philippine Islands and as their mouthpiece, I am directed to say that they seek from you that which it will cost you nothing to concede and something which is, and ever will be, more to them than wealth and life—their liberty."

Commissioner Quezon, whose status in Washington is that of delegate in Congress from the Territories, claims to be the only real representative of the Filipino people, although he has a colleague here, Commissioner Benito Legarda. Quezon was chosen by the Philippine Assembly, being the unanimous choice of all parties. Legarda is the representative of the Philippine Commission, and, therefore, it is claimed, is not in sympathy with the demands of the Filipinos for immediate independence.

Continuing, he said:

"When the people of the United States came in contact with the Filipinos the first time, the only thing they knew about them was that there were some uncivilized people in the mountains, and the people of the United States took for granted that all the rest of the islands were more or less in about the same condition. President McKinley's investigating commission found that the Filipinos, even at that time, were in much better condition and were more fit to govern themselves than were the people of Cuba, to whom independence was given immediately."

"You of the United States do not know that all branches of science or art are, and have always been, well represented in the people of my race. We have a Rizal, who became a world-known celebrity, whom the Filipinos worship as much as the Americans worship Washington. There is a Luna, whose paintings have been the admiration of the whole world. There is a Ycaza and a Moreno-Lacalle, whose learning in the law made them objects of admiration at the highest courts of Spain. There are numberless doctors who rank with the highest of their profession in Europe or this country. There are politicians that can occupy any place in any legislative body of any nation, and fill that position in a creditable manner."

"The Government of the United States pledged itself before the whole world that in governing the Philippine Islands, the welfare of the Filipinos should be given first consideration, and this, I regret to say, has not been the case. A gradual letting in of the Filipinos in the Government's management has been promised time and time again, but although there has been some pretense that this has been done, no such thing has occurred, and the most important positions continue to be filled by Americans and not by Filipinos. The high salaried positions are occupied by American citizens, and only the minor and unimportant ones are given to the natives."

"The occupation of the islands is costing the Government of the United States millions yearly. The longer the United States retains the Philippine Islands, the greater will be the temptation for American capital to exploit the islands. The more American capital is entrenched in the Philippines, the more difficult will it be for the United States to grant us our independence, because the American interests will demand of Uncle Sam that he remain there and protect them. And we do not want American capital to take hold of our lands and our farms."

"President Taft said that the Philippines are for the Filipinos, and those words have been engraved in the heart of every Filipino, and when we see that the conduct of the Administration is not in conformity with that doctrine, we protest and demand that a stop to the actual condition of affairs be made at once and that our voice be heard."

HER TURN THINKING OF ANOTHER WORD

Robert W. Chambers, the popular novelist, was talking to a reporter about the artistic temperament.

"I have little patience with the artistic temperament," Mr. Chambers said. "Its synonym is selfishness. Mrs. Wordsworth was right."

Mr. Chambers smiled. "The poet Wordsworth," he resumed, "used to compose in bed at night. Nudging his wife in the small hours he would say:

"Maria, get up. I've thought of a good word."

"And Mrs. Wordsworth would rise sleepily, light a candle and write at her husband's dictation for ten or fifteen minutes."

"A couple of hours later Wordsworth would wake her again."

"Get up, Maria, I've got a good word," he would repeat.

"But one night Mrs. Wordsworth put a stop forever to this nocturnal dictation. Her husband awakening her with the usual 'Get up—I've thought of a good word,' was startled to hear her reply:

"Oh, get up yourself! I've thought of a bad word." [St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

IS YET A DEEP MYSTERY WHERE SCOUT GOT PAPERS

Nashville, Tenn., May 12.—Gen. G. M. Dodge, of Council Bluffs, Commandant at Pulaski, Tenn., in 1863, when Sam Davis, the Confederate scout, was hanged and whose statue in recognition of his heroism in refusing to tell where he got the incriminating papers found upon his person, stands on Capitol Hill, has written to Pulaski persons that the papers in question did not come from his headquarters.

It has been recently claimed that the papers had been given to the Confederate scouts by one who is a Federal pensioner is a nearby State. Gen. Dodge says that he never saw the papers until they were placed in his hands after being taken from Davis' saddle.

Where the Confederate got the papers is one of the mysteries of the Civil War. Young Davis, on the gallows, when proffered his life for the information, refused to divulge anything.

MAN A BACK NUMBER IN THE GLORIOUS FUTURE

It is the year 2000. The famous and successful lady orator is addressing a large and enthusiastic audience. At the end of her speech she says:

"I believe that this is the time for me to publicly acknowledge my indebtedness to one who has been my companion, my counselor and my guide, who has upheld my weary hands when the task seemed too great for my strength, who has cheered me with loving words when I returned worn and weary from my arduous duties in club and on the platform, who has by thoughtful, constant ministrations given the blessed knowledge that always there is for me a haven of refuge and rest, a harbor of comfort and cheer—my home. All that I am, and all that I have, I owe to that inestimable man, my husband."

At the back of the hall sat a little pale-faced man, whose face, as his ear-ringing words fell on his ears, brightened wonderfully. This was her husband. All his patience and self-sacrifice were rewarded at last. [Tit Bits.]

RED MEN HAD A GREAT TIME

In Session at Owensboro Last Week.

T. WADE STRATTON ELECTED

Great Keeper of Wampum in Spirited Contest Against Able Man.

BOWLING GREEN NEXT PLACE

The eighteenth annual Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men of Kentucky came to a close at the Armory at Owensboro Wednesday evening with a brilliant ball. The business meeting of the body closed at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, after the election of officers.

The feature of the session Wednesday afternoon was the election of the officers for the ensuing term. The election began at three o'clock, and was one of the most spirited ever witnessed at a Great Council, and friendly feeling predominated all through the entire session.

Ohio county was signally honored when Past Sachem T. Wade Stratton was elected as Great Keeper of Wampum. This is one of the most important stumps in the Great Council, all of the finances of the order being conducted through this office, and this officer is the custodian of the money of the entire State. Mr. Stratton put up one of the strongest fights ever conducted by any candidate for any office in this reservation, and received votes from all sections of Kentucky. His opponent was a member from one of Louisville lodges and had a strong influence, but not great enough to outdo the mountain and "pennyrile" tribes, who were represented with large delegations.

At the morning session Wednesday it was voted to hold the next Great Council at Bowling Green, Lexington, Louisville and Frankfort invited the Great Council to meet with them, but it was only by a vote that the place of meeting was decided upon. The several hundred delegates were highly entertained while in Owensboro and many regretted to leave. Those from Ohio Tribe, of this city, who attended were Representative S. A. Bratcher, Ellis Foster, J. Ney Foster, Leslie Hoover, Sam Riley, Walter Campbell and Jeff Watterson. The officers elected were as follows:

William A. Crader, of Louisville, Great Sachem.

Robert Crowe, of La Grange, Great Senior Sagamore.

Charles Davis, of Barbourville, Great Junior Sagamore.

H. J. Norheutt, of Covington, Great Prophet and Great Representative to the Great Council.

F. L. Smith, of Lexington, Great Chief of Records.

T. Wade Stratton, of Cromwell, Great Keeper of Wampum.

H. V. Cohn, of Louisville, who for five years has been Great Keeper of Wampum, was created a Past Sachem.

A. Englehard, of Louisville, was elected to the office of Great Mishnema.

Hillousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with hillousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been to-day had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally. —Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

TWO HUNDRED MILLION TONS OF SODA IN LAKE

Reliable Information adds to the wonders of East Africa a soda lake whose area is about thirty square miles. The deposit at Magadi is divided into distinct layers of soda, the topmost being ten inches thick. Imagine a lake filled with solid soda instead of water. The surface is hard and resembles pink marble. During the short rainy season the lake is covered over by a few inches of water, which quickly disappears when the season is at an end. Like everything else, this singular formation has a "mother." The natives say when a block of soda is removed the "mother liquor" rises to the surface and at once begins to form a fresh crust. You may thus work the same spot year after year and procure the material freshly made. The British expedition bored a hole about nine feet deep and found crystals all the way. They believe the formation is solid. Even a depth of nine feet would mean 200,000,000 tons.

SPECIAL NOTICE

In regard to OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written at the behest of lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of two cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word, straight. This is the smallest rate we charge for anything and is only one-fifth of our regular rate. The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word.

Our old rule in regard to Obituaries, &c. was 150 words free, balance a cent a word, but this did not prove satisfactory because the bounds were almost always overstepped, and we have been forced to adopt this new rule, which is in effect from now on. Contributors will please remember.

There's a Reason

For the large and increasing sale of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. When in the need of a cough medicine, try it and you will know the reason.

To Be Precise.

On a busy day a woman walked into the office of the court rooms at Atlanta, Ga., and, addressing Judge Blank, said:

"Are you the reprobate judge?"

"I am the probate judge."

"That is what I was saying," she said, "and I have come to you because I am in trouble. My husband was studying to be a minister at a logical seminary, and he died, and I have come to be appointed their executioner."

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote C. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by James H. Williams.

Frightful.

"They say she looked daggers at him."

"Worse than that. She looked long hatpins."

GOOD NEWS.

Many Hartford Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Hartford are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is had no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands upon thousands of people are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. H. C. Smith, Earlington, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for years. I had severe pains in the small of my back and whenever I stooped or lifted, the attacks were particularly acute. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning I was very lame. I became tired easily, felt languid and was frequently troubled by headaches and spells of dizziness. I know that my kidneys were disordered, as the kidney secretions were unnatural. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use and the contents of two boxes cured me. I shall recommend this remedy at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NOTICE, DEMOCRATS:
Democratic State Primary Election, Saturday, July 1.

From latest reports, Gen. Sherman's description of war still holds good.

Somehow we do not hear much about army "maneuvers" on the Mexican border nowadays.

One of the special uses of the recall will be to put a much needed
"ex" in front of some men's names.

There's a negro over at Bowling Green named Hen House. Now go ahead and fix up your own joke. We could think of nothing new.

An all-summer Congressional session with great activity in the House of Representatives and characteristic inactivity in the Senate, is foreshadowed.

A Missouri man claims he is the original Charley Ross. Being a Missourian, of course he will be expected to demonstrate the fact according to native requirements.

The fish and game laws of Kentucky are becoming very loose in their application. It is apparent that they are being constantly violated with impunity. This matter needs attention.

The "Insurgents" and the "regulars" are prominent characters in the affairs of men nowadays. Usually, however, the newspapers have to depend upon the former to stir up something good to print.

A bill has been passed by the Lower House of the Arkansas Legislature providing that the public official who gets drunk more than once during his term of office, shall relinquish his place. No penalty for staying "full" all the time.

It is announced that Gov. Wilson, of Kentucky, will play a match game of golf with President Tatt next Saturday. If Mr. Wilson can't play golf any better than he can play Governor, we can come mighty near guessing who will win the game.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian says:

Gen. Navarro sent in a report Tuesday that he would surrender, so to speak.
But he did the next day.

If this should be allowed to get across the border, there is little telling when the fighting would ever end.

As the months and years go by,
more and more it becomes apparent that the newspaper is the most available and profitable channel to appeal to the people upon any question touching their interests. Candidates are the latest to discover this fact and the power of advertising, which for years has been patent to the successful merchant and business man. Newspapers are read—there is no doubt of that—and anything appearing in their columns seldom escapes the eyes of the reader.

A special to one of the big dailies says the lobbies and grill rooms of the fashionable New Willard Hotel at the National Capital were filled one day last week with farmers who had come to Washington in Pullman cars which they only abandoned for taxicabs to ride around the city and finally meet at the White House to see the President and protest against the Canadian Reciprocity bill. This would seem to be one reason why the farmers who stay at home, wear blue jeans and pull a line over a pinle up a corn row, are for the measure.

Whether the accused are guilty or innocent, it is much to the credit of Circuit Judge Birkenhead, Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo and the officials of Livermore and Mc-Lean county, especially the grand jury, that indictments were so swift and sure in the matter of the Livermore mob. It shows an active and clean state of law-abiding citizenship, and the proper spirit of punishing law-breakers. Furthermore, it furnishes the first case on record where the alleged members of a Kentucky mob were actually apprehended and brought to the bar of justice.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the sentence of life imprisonment for Joseph Wendling, convicted in the criminal court of Jefferson county for the murder of little Alma Kellner. Of course the decision was a righteous one, but yet the sentence seems to have fallen short of full justice. Wendling was either guilty or innocent. If gulti-ty, his life would have been a poor forfeit; if innocent, he should have been freed. There can be little doubt, however, that the third-degree, brow-beating manner in which he was treated while enroute back to Kentucky, had much to do with softening his sentence in the eyes of the trial jury.

DECORATION DAY AT NOCREEK CHURCH MAY 30

Preston Morton Post will hold annual Decoration Day services at No-creek church, May 30th, beginning at nine o'clock in the morning, after which committees will decorate the graves of the old soldiers at Carson and Old Mill burying grounds and other points in the county. A program will be arranged by the local people with good music and an oration will be delivered by Rev.
Claude C. Hall, of Vandallia, Ill.
Rev. Hall spent a part of his boy-hood days on Nocreek, at the home of Rev. Elliott, who for many years was pastor of the Nocreek church, and he will be remembered by many of the older people. He is a polished orator and his services are sought far and wide in the State of Illinois for such occasions. Let everybody prepare to attend these services and contribute their mite in paying respect to the memory of our dead comrades.

PUT OFF HANGING WOMAN —ANOTHER LIFE COMING

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 13.—
Angellae Napolitana, who is young, was to-day sentenced to be hanged on Aug. 9 for the murder of her husband.

Several months ago Napolitana in a jealous rage slashed his wife with a knife. She was at a hospital for eight weeks, during which time the couple apparently became reconcil-ed. As it turned out, the woman was only biding her time for an opportunity to take revenge. It came on Easter morning. While Napolittana was asleep she brained him with an axe.

The date of the execution was set at a distant date because the woman will soon become a mother.

It Started the World
When the astounding claims were first made for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, but forty years of wonderful cures have proved them true, and everywhere it is now known as the best salve on earth for burns, scalds, sores, cuts, bruises, sprains, swell-ings, eczema, chapped hands, fever sores and piles. Only 25c at James

MRS. GEO. LYNCH SENT TO JAIL WITHOUT BAIL

Held to Grand Jury for Murder of Ambie Buck, Son-in Law.

After an examining trial that lasted for six hours at Owensboro, Friday, Mrs. George Lynch, charged with the murder of Ambie Buck, her son-in-law, was committed to the county jail and was denied bail.
She will be incarcerated here till the May term of court, which convenes May 22, when she will be tried. The case was one of the most eagerly watched that has ever been in the courts recently.

There were warrants against George Lynch, Homer Powers and Hardin Benningfield, charging each with murder, and when the cases were called the Commonwealth elected to try all of the defendants at the same time.

This was agreeable to the attorneys for the defendants and the trials were entered into at once.

At the conclusion of the evidence and when all of the attorneys announced that they had rested the cases for their clients, Judge Owen prefaced the rulings of the court with a summary of the evidence and his opinion of the matter. He said, in substance, that it was the province of the examining court to hold alleged offenders to the grand jury, in cases where it appeared that reasonable grounds were found in which a conviction could be secured.

He said that while in his opinion, the three men that accompanied Mrs. Lynch on her trip to the Buck home had made an honest effort to dissuade her and to secure possession of the gun, that it also occured to him that three men of average intelligence and ability should have been able to prevent the needless homicide. He then said that he did not think that the three men were parties to the murder and that he would therefore dismiss the charge as to them. He then turned his remarks to the acts of Mrs.
Lynch. He said that every bit of testimony went to show that the willful was done premeditatedly and with malice aforethought. He said:
"This woman went to the home of Buck, with either some real or imaginary wrong, and there shot him down in cold blood, just as she would shoot a hog or a dog. I dismiss the warrants as to the three men and order that Mrs.
Lynch be confined in the county jail
till the May term of the grand jury, that she be confined without bond,
as the charge is murder."

Surprise Birthday Dinner.

On May the 14th Mr. Horace Taylor was greatly surprised on returning from church at Liberty to find that his wife had planned a surprise dinner on the anniversary of his 39th birthday. Mr. Taylor did not seem to realize that such a nice surprise had been planned for him until a host of his relatives and friends began to stop to take dinner with him.

Every one enjoyed the dinner and the entire day immensely, but none enjoyed it more than Mr. Taylor.

There was an abundance of good things to eat and all seemed to be delighted.

After a heartfelt talk by Rev.
Mell and a general love-feast session, the crowd was dismissed and every one departed feeling greatly benefited, spiritually as well as socially. Many if not all will have a pleasant remembrance of the day until God calls us to a better home in heaven.

The following persons were present: J. W. Taylor, Henry Taylor, J. Birch Taylor, Horace Taylor and wife and son, Otho Birch; Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Mell, Mrs. Sallie Barrett,
Mrs. Nannie Taylor, Mr. and Mrs.

MUCH PROGRESS SEEN IN A. S. OF E. POOL

Of the Green River District, Says
State Secretary
Robertson.

Calhoun, Ky., May 13.—The good news is coming in from all sections of the Green River District A. S. of E., that the tobacco pool this season is far exceeding the pools of former years and with this very encouraging news, we have it from very reliable sources that in several of the counties of the Burley territory that they can do even better than we have done here and that they can pool ninety per cent. Now up to recently the people in the Burley District have been keeping still, for as some say, they thought that if they pooled the 1911 tobacco too early it would have a tendency to advance the price just at the time of year that might cause a much larger crop to be planted than would have been had low prices prevailed till planting time. We believe that in this they are correct. But now it appears that those people will get busy and that in the next few weeks
the Burley District may be a very busy field for the launching and completion of the pool of Burley tobacco.

Respectfully,
S. B. ROBERTSON,
State Secretary of A. S. of E.

REMARKABLE HAIL STORM —HAIL LASTED FOR WEEKS

Rockport, Ky., May 14.—On the evening of April 29th a heavy hail storm passed over this community, with much rain and wind, doing considerable damage in the Hopewell neighborhood. A remarkable thing about it is that on the 13th of May, hailstones were gathered up and ice cream was made and used on the 14th of May, 16 days after the hail fell, and the thermometer for the last 3 or 4 days had stood at about 85 degrees.

This perhaps was the heaviest hail storm that has passed over this county in 60 years.

The young people of Hartford had a masquerade party at Dr. Bean's Opera House last Friday night. It was largely attended and much enjoyed by all present, many of whom were attired in the most grotesque costumes imaginable. Dancing was indulged in at the latter part of the festivities.

We have received several obituaries and cards of thanks lately, which were not accompanied by the cash, hence they have not been printed. Under our new ruling, which has been printed many times, these articles are charged for at the rate of two cents a line, average six words to the line.

Messrs. A. G. Murphy, Rev. T. H. Balmain and R. D. Barnes, Hartford, route 1; Joe S. Bennett, Hartford, route 5; E. J. Shively, B. F. Fuqua and John Keith, Beaver Dam, H. R. Pirtle, Hartford, route 3; Mrs. L. C. Bennett, Misses Bessie Collins and Lizzie O'Dannon, city; J. R. Westerfield, Hartford, route 6, were among The Herald's callers Friday.

Rev. J. W. Bruner and Mr. J. C. Riley, of -Hartford; Revs. A. B. Gardner, G. H. Lawrence and Birch Shields, of Beaver Dam; Mr. James Davenport, Rochester; Rev. Thurman Moore, of Butler county, and Rev. C. M. Corley and Mr. G. C. Midkiff, of Blackford Association, left Monday to attend the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention at Jacksonville, Fla., in session there this week.

The Methodist people of Hartford will soon be compelled to give up their church building here entirely, as it was sold some time ago to the First Christian Church of this place, the former congregation have only been worshipping there by agreement with the purchasers. There is little prospect of a new Methodist church being erected here soon, and it has about been decided that preaching and Sunday School will be held at the court house until some more definite arrangement can be made.

Notice.

The ladies of the Methodist Church will serve ice cream sherbet, strawberries and cake at the court house, Hartford, this evening, beginning at 6 o'clock. For benefit of church.

Death of Rev. Barnett.

Col. C. M. Barnett, senior editor of the Hartford Republican, was notified by telegram Saturday of the death of his brother, Rev. W. B. Barnett, at Jacksonville, Ohio, and left for that place Sunday. The nature of the fatal illness could not be learned. Rev. Barnett was born and reared in this county, but had not lived here for a number of years. He had been in the ministry about 40 years. He was pastor of the Methodist Church at Jacksonville, and was in his 63d year. He leaves a wife and five children, all grown. Besides Col. Barnett, he is survived by one other brother, Mr. Geo. W. Barnett, of Los Angeles, Cal., and two sisters, Mrs. Wood Tinsley and Mrs. Fannie Taylor, of Hartford, Ky. His remains were interred at New Lexington, O., yesterday.

SMALL BOY DROWNED WHILE IN SWIMMING

Elmer Sanders, an eleven-year-old orphan boy, while fishing in the back waters of Green river, near Hirk City, with three small companions, late Wednesday afternoon, fell into the water and was drowned before any assistance could reach him. Sanders, with his companions, had been fishing in the back waters for several days, and, earlier in the afternoon, had been playing "banter" to see which could wade the furthest into the water. Sanders waded beyond his depth, and was drowned. His companions were too much frightened to render him any assistance.

The body was recovered late Wednesday night and was buried Thursday afternoon at the Sanders burying ground, in Henderson county.

Davless Criminal Court.

The May term of the Davless criminal court will convene Monday and the term promises to be one of unusual interest, as it is expected that the trial of Mrs. George Lynch, who is charged with murder, will be held at this term of the court.

There are now seventeen persons in the county jail, who have been held over to the grand jury and who were unable to furnish bond, in addition to which there are several others, who were held to the grand jury, but who were released from jail on bond.

"The Bunch" Entertained.

Miss Gertrude Wright entertained her friends, "The Bunch," at the Foster House Wednesday night, as a little farewell meeting before the departure of some of the members from the city for a season. Amusing games were engaged in and dainty refreshments were served during the evening. The whole evening was spent in a most delightful way and Miss Wright distinguished herself as an excellent entertainer. One of the features of the occasion was a humorous speech by Prof. T. H. Smith. Those present besides the hostess were: Misses Adah Frank, Sue Wright, Mattie Moseley and Alta Mae Likens; Messrs. C. E. Smith, E. G. Barrass, Dr. H. J. Bell, Prof. T. H. Smith.

BEAVER DAM.

May 15.—A Mr. Cereia Burden was badly hurt in the bank at Taylor Mines last week. Also Mr. Will Stevens was badly burned by firing a shot recently.

Miss Sofia Williams, who has been teaching school in Standford, Ill., returned home last week.

Revs. A. B. Gardner, Birch Shields and G. H. Lawrence left today for Jacksonville, Fla., to attend the Southern Baptist Convention. Mr. Thurman Moore, of Logansport, also joined the party for Jacksonville.

Misses Effie Taylor, Beasle and Jessie Smith, of Union neighborhood, are in town this week, attending the closing exercises of our school. Quite a number of others from different parts of the county are in town for the same purpose.

CENTERTOWN.

May 15.—The Centertown bank is preparing to resume business again.

Mr. W. A. Knave, W. O. W. organizer, of Louisville, will deliver a lecture on the craft at the Masonic hall here next Saturday night. Everybody invited to attend.

Mr. John Baker, of Nelson, Ky., visited the family of George Rowe here Saturday and Sunday. He attended Masonic Lodge here Saturday night.

Mrs. Yancy Moseley and daughter Miss Winnie Dean, and Mrs. Frank Lowe and daughters, Wilma and Ruth, all of Hartford, Ky., spent Friday with Mrs. J. E. Curtis, of this place.

An unusually large vote was polled in the school trustee election held here recently, resulting in the election of J. B. Maddox and Virgil Bishop to succeed themselves, as they were the two that had first gone out of office.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. F. E. Johnson, to be tried in Esq. Jackson's court, has been set forward until next Saturday.

Mr. Claude Chapman's body was buried at the cemetery here Sunday evening.

Mrs. John Woods, of Ceraivo, visited in Centertown, Saturday.

Winner of the Derby.

Meridian, owned by R. F. Carman, won the thirty-seventh Kentucky Derby Saturday at Churchill Downs, Louisville. The old track record of 2:06 1/4 was lowered by one and one-fourth seconds, the race being run in 2:05 flat. The mutuels paid $7.80 for $2.00 on the winner. There were forty thousand people present. Gov. Gray was second and Colston third.

Foot Cut Off; Drowns Himself.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 14.—After losing a foot by attempting to board a freight train in the Missouri Pacific yards to-day, a man supposed to be Frank E. Bernthaler, of Palestine, Tex., crawled into the Missouri river and drowned himself.

A resolution will be introduced in the Georgia Legislature memorializing Congress to cut Georgia into two States.

METHODIST CHURCH
Virgil High, Pastor.

No prayer meeting Wednesday evening on account of commencement exercises.

Preaching next Sunday both morning and evening. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in connection with the eleven o'clock services.

Pleasant Event Coming.

Mr. Hunter C. Leake, of New Orleans, will deliver an illustrated lecture at the court house in Hartford on Saturday night, May 27. His subject will be "Alaska," through which country he has traveled extensively and he will therefore talk with intimate knowledge of his theme. The views exhibited will be of his own selection. Few people know of the wonders of this very wonderful country, and the event will be both interesting and educational.

The lecture will be for the benefit of the building fund of the Methodist Church, and the entire proceeds, outside of incidental expenses, will go for that purpose. Mr. Leake will charge nothing for his visit or his services, as he has volunteered to contribute these to the cause. His generosity should be appreciated by the people of Hartford and also owing to the excellence of the purpose, he should be accorded a crowded house. A small admission fee will be charged, which will enable everybody to attend.

Don't forget the date—Saturday night, May 27, at the court house—and prepare for a rare treat.

Rev. Bruner Recalled.

At a largely attended church meeting of the Hartford Baptist congregation Wednesday evening Rev. J. W. Bruner was unanimously recalled to the pastorate another year. He expressed his thanks and appreciation in a very feeling manner, but took the matter of his acceptance under consideration. Rev. Bruner is very popular with the people of Hartford of every denomination and it would be a distinct loss to the town and county should he decide to go elsewhere.

STOLE TO MAKE HIS WIFE HAPPY

While She Lived—Now Faces Prison.

IS READY FOR PUNISHMENT

Now That She is Gone—The Story of a Self-Confessed Embezzler.

TOOK $114,850 FROM THE BANK

Cleveland, O., May 11.—Julius W. Hopkins, confessed embezzler, sat in the county jail here gazing through barred windows at the open sky. He asserted that he stole from the First National Bank, of which he was paying teller, to make his wife happy. He was arrested yesterday.

"I wanted my wife to be happy," he half-whispered.

He had told, steadily and clearly, how he stole $114,850 from the bank. Then came the mention of his dead wife, whom he buried two brief months ago.

"That—that is the sore spot," he said, brushing his hand across his eyes. "While she lived I wanted her to be happy and comfortable. I was getting only $1,200 and $1,400 a year, eight years ago, when I began to—when it all started. I took a little at first. It went to $25,000, though. In three years.

"I wanted to see her well dressed and enjoying the little luxuries that other women have. Since she died I have lived in the simplest style.

"Then my old mother was living at Geneva. I sent her part of the money I took.

"I expected to pay back—as they all do—when I started. I soon found that I couldn't do it. My salary went up, and a short time ago it was increased to $2,500 a year. Then I was trying to make the Speed Indicator Company, of which I was President, into a big concern. I wanted my children to have everything.

"My boy is down in Asheville now at school. He can bear it—Raymond has at least as much nerve as I.

"I want it settled quickly. I want an early trial. My property will be turned over to the bank. Anything that I can do to make good I shall do. I have not thought of suicide, for I am not a coward."

EMILY.
By Nellie T. Ashby, Centertown, Ky.

The world was fair. Nature had reached perfection and spread her exultant beauty over this wealthy commercial town of the Southern States, whose site was once occupied by cypress swamps, draped with Spanish moss. It is now a thriving village.

The recent illness of Major Hugh Kelly had called his son Eccles from his school, where he was preparing himself for the ministry. On this fair day, after young Kelly had seen that his father was so much improved, he felt as if a stroll from the busy part of the villa would do him good. He left for a stroll in the suburbs of the village, where cottages intersected for miles the unpaved streets.

The gentleman had proceeded but a short distance when his attention was attracted by the peculiar architecture of a small cottage. Pausing to note the style more closely, the gentle winds wafted through an open window the broken lines of a woman's voice: "Oh, my poor Emily! Why did God so afflict her?" The deep voice of a man answered: "To prepare her for some great work. Even when God's hand is laid the heaviest and we know not why, we instinctively feel that it is to prepare her for some great work, either in our lives or the lives of others, that he chastens us. This will consecrate Emily and set her apart to work in her Master's service."

As he listened to these words, thoughts of approaching flashed through his mind, without even thoughts of intrusion. Dr. Kenton stated as briefly as possible, in answer to the man's earnest question, telling him of Emily Rowan's nearly fatal accident and her brave struggle for life which had lasted for weeks. And also of the discovery the day before which would prevent Emily from ever walking.

His voice was somewhat unsteady when he told of the girl's cry of agony, followed by hours of delirium when the girl of less than 23 realized the full meaning of the words "Never to walk again."

"May I go in and see?" he asked, after he learned she was at that time conscious. Dr. Kenton assured him that it could do no harm. In a few minutes Emily caught the sound of steps outside and the two men entered. Eccles attempted a few words of kindly solicitude and immediately knelt and offered a fervent, heartfelt prayer that filled Emily's soul with peace, as the thought prevailed through her mind that, crippled as she was, she might see that her years were not wasted.

The prayer concluded with a gentle pressure of the hand and young Eccles' gentle voice added: "As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten." The next instant he left the room.

Weeks passed into months. Both pain and confinement became bearable, and then Emily sought to find a way in which her life might be useful.

"Don't worry, Emily. Somewhere your work is waiting," her mother would assure her.

A few days later Mrs. Rowan told her daughter that owing to the sudden death of his father, Wallace Rice would have to relinquish his cherished dreams of an education. Emily suggested that Wallace should come to her every evening for his lesson, for which he was able to pay but a small amount.

On Wednesday evening Emily's school began with only Wallace as the sole student. At the end of three weeks Wallace was progressing so well with his studies that he asked permission for one of his friends to join the class.

Each week saw the school grow from its small beginning until at the end of six months, Emily was busy with the attendance. Soon she employed an assistant, as fifty pupils had applied for admittance.

Then a committee waited on Emily with the proposition that they erect a building close to her home to accommodate all who cared to attend. She gratefully accepted the proposal and by September the building was ready for occupancy and a goodly number of new pupils applied for admittance.

There was not a poor child nor a crippled boy in this village whose education would not have been limited had it not been for Emily's consecrated work.

A few years later Dr. Kenton died. He spoke a few words of Emily before taking his final leave of this world. He said, "Of all mercies Thou hast bestowed on me, Lord, there has been none greater than a share in saving Emily Rowan's life."

BE SUNNY.

Almost everybody will admit that a sense of humor and a love of fun tide their possessors over some very real sorrows. Austerity has no particular claim to be considered saintly, and folly with its cap and bells once in a while does angelic work. Blessings on the children with their merry laughter. Blessings on the old people who have not forgotten how to be sunny. Take it all in all, this world of ours is not so bad a place. Every season brings its gifts of love from heaven; the skies are oftener blue than gray, the birds sing in the branches, fathers and mothers bend over the cradle, and the joy of life is deeper than the woe.—[Christian Herald.]

MAN WHO BORE VITAL MESSAGE

From Morgan, the Raider, to Gen. Lee

IS STILL LIVING IN CHICAGO

He Rode Seven Weeks to Deliver Famous Note—Often Challenged.

TO GO ON MISSION OF PEACE

The "courier boy" who carried a message famous in history from Morgan, the raider, to General Robert E. Lee, by riding seven weeks through Union lines, now lives in a small room at 360 Ward street, Chicago, with nothing but the memories of the South as his fortune, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

His one possession of value is the knife with which General Morgan and Captain Hines dug their way out of the Federal prison at Columbus, Ohio, in 1863. For this he was offered large sums of money years ago when his fortune, though wrecked by the civil war, was one of the largest in the South.

In the forty-five years since he surrendered with Morgan's command, his fortune has dwindled and he may be forced to part with his memento, left with his mother by the Confederate leader and treasured by his family as a priceless relic.

His name, Washington A. Platt, was and still is one to conjure with in Kentucky and the South. He comes from Revolutionary stock, his great-grandfather having been with Washington in that war. His grandfather, Robert Platt, fought in the war of 1812, and was given grants for 1200 acres of land, on which now stands Cincinnati, for his services. His mother was a member of a famous Southern family in Boone county, Kentucky, and her family had title to 30,000 acres of land near Lexington.

The land grants to these properties signed by President Jackson and President Lincoln, are still in his possession, but his share in the holdings has long since been lost. At one time he was a partner of Lyman J. Gage in a business venture, and both lost heavily.

Platt was 19 years old in 1863, and had been in the secret service of the Confederate army. General Morgan and Captain Hines, after their escape from the Columbus prison, made their way to his mother's house. Young Platt gave his favorite riding horse to Captain Hines, and purchased "Jenny Lynn," a riding mare which was the pride of Kentucky, for General Morgan. Then when the Confederate raider and his lieutenant were ready to ride South, General Morgan wrote a message to Gen. Lee and asked Platt to deliver it. The message was as follows:

"To General Robert E. Lee, Virginia:

"We are out of prison. Am on my way to Abingdon, Va., to reorganize my command, leaving Captain Hines behind to raise a body of men in northern Kentucky and Indiana; release the Camp Douglas prisoners, arm, mount them and lead them to Virginia.

"J. H. Morgan, (en route.)"

"I did not know where General Lee was in camp," said the "courier boy," in describing his ride. "I only knew he was in Virginia. But an order from Morgan was to be obeyed, and I accepted the letter with instructions to destroy it if I was captured.

"My journey took me through Union lines and I was challenged many times but was not detained. After riding seven weeks, during which I slept in barns and on the ground, and got food at night from my people, I found General Lee."

Platt is still a "rebel" in his love for the South, but he believes he has a message from his comrades in gray. He is going to travel down in Dixie this summer for the Daughters of the Confederacy, telling his story. His advice to the South is going to be that the country is united, and Lincoln and Lee will be coupled by him—no one greater than the other.

TOBACCO GROWER'S TRICK

—GOOD PRICE FOR MUD

Dr. Browne has a collection of clay models that are unique as showing what had been resorted to by at least one tobacco grower to add to the weight of his crop. The relics are chunks of dried clay, each weighing almost exactly one ounce, one of which was taken from each hand of an entire crop of tobacco.

The fellow had made a dough of dampened clay and when stripping tobacco, placed a small chunk of it in the butt of the leaves and wrapped the leaf around it, hiding it from view or possible detection until the tobacco should be unwrapped for stemming. By a little figuring it will be seen that this man's clay farm was selling at 10 cents per pound—a pretty stiff price for mud—and amounted to quite a sum in a big crop.—[Dover News.]

WHEN MANDY GRADUATES.

When Mandy graduates by jing!
We're goin' to see her through:
There ain't a gol-darned blessed thing
Her old Pap wouldn't do,
She's goin' to have a brand new dress
Jest like them fashion plates.
We won't spare no expense, I guess,
When Mandy graduates.

When Mandy graduates, by jing!
She's goin' to speak a piece,
It's all about some ancient king
What lived, I think, in Greece.
Then, too, she's goin' to take a part
In one o' them debates.
They'll see our gal is all-fired smart,
When Mandy graduates.

When Mandy graduates, by jing!
The knowledge sure will flow.
I guess she knows most everything
That any one kin know.
I mean the things you learn from books
An' figgerin' on slates;
An' purty? Well, she'll have the looks
When Mandy graduates.

When Mandy graduates, by jing!
I sorter wonder how She'll git along. She's had her fling,
She's educated now.
But she don't know how gardens grow
An' housework she jist hates.
Sich thoughts I s'pose is foolish,
though,
When Mandy graduates.

REVISED VERSION.

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"
"I really don't know, kind sir," she said.
"Mother's quite set upon touring in Spain,
Harry's inclined to a summer in Maine,
Susan is crazy to go to Poree,
Mabel's for cruising along by the sea,
Tommy's for shooting and fishing this year,
Father's for tending to business right here;
As for myself, sir, I honestly feel I'd like to do France in an automobile."
"Your father has sense, my pretty maid."
"He'll need more than that, kind sir," she said.
"Sense is all right in attending to biz,
But dollars are needed in families like his."

A Man.
A man that's clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor; who can lose without bragging; considerate to women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat, and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs—this is the ideal conception of a true gentleman.—[Bagology.]

Made Him a Better Man.
A farmer had a dream. He dreamed that he had raised 3,000 bushels of corn and sold it for a dollar a bushel. This was Paradise, but he had not humped around there long before he discovered that he had sold his corn to 3,000 different individuals, each of whom refused to pay him his dollar. This was Hell, and he woke in a sweat. "Rebecca," he said, "the first thing next morning, I'm going into town and pay for my paper."

50 Per Cent Better

"I have used less than one bottle of Cardui," writes Mrs. Gertrude Ward, of Rushville, Neb., "and am feeling fifty per cent better than when I began taking it."

"Before taking Cardui, I had suffered with female trouble, for eight years. My greatest trouble was irregularity. I also suffered with severe pains, every month, but now I am greatly improved and will recommend Cardui to all my suffering friends."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The rare medicinal herbs of Cardui are imported by the manufacturers direct from Europe and are not to be found in any other medicine.

These ingredients are what give Cardui its superiority, as a female medicine and tonic, over any other medicine.

For over 50 years Cardui has been the favorite woman's medicine. The ladies like it, because it is so easy to take, so gentle, so safe, so reliable in its results, and they have faith in its curative tonic powers, because of the thousands of other ladies it has helped. Try it today.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with turquoise blue enameled chambers. Hand-painted finish throughout. The 2 and 3 burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

and opened roads; developed agricultural and mining resources, established an efficient public school system, abolished the religious congregations, and, by cultivating the good will of foreign nations, gave Mexico a new status among the world powers.

1911 (May 7) agrees to accede to demands for his retirement after months of revolution, conditioned on the restoration of peace in the republic.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?
None, never. It's foolish to fear fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, hayows, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucams, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only. 50c at James H. Williams.

TRICKED PAULINE.

Napoleon's Pert and Pretty Sister's Pride Was Humbled.

TWICE SHE MET HER MATCH.

The Empress Josephine Once Gave Her, So to Speak, a Dressing Down, and the Fashionable Mme. De Coustades Figuratively Boxed Her Ears.

Napoleon was anxious to have General Marmont marry his sister Pauline, but the wily old soldier refused to make the flirt his bride. Then Napoleon turned to General Leclerc, who really loved Pauline, and they were wedded. Leclerc was then sent as head of the French expedition to Haiti, Pauline going along under protest. Leclerc died of fever in Haiti, and Pauline returned to France with his body.

After a time Pauline, whom Lyndea Orr in Munsey's describes as a "feather-headed, laughing, beautiful, distracting morsel of frivolity," resumed her heart-breaking tactics. "Presently it became noised about," writes Mr. Orr, "that Prince Camillo Borghese was flirting desperately with Pauline. The prince was an excellent specimen of the fashionable Italian. He was immensely rich. His palace at Rome was filled with artistic treasure. He was the owner, moreover, of the famous Borghese jewels, the finest collection of diamonds in the world."

"Napoleon rather sternly insisted upon her marrying Borghese. Fortunately the prince was very willing to be connected with Napoleon, while Pauline was delighted at the idea of having diamonds that would eclipse all the gems which Josephine possessed, for, like all the floa-pantes, she detested her brother's wife. So she would be married and show her diamonds to Josephine. It was a bit of feminine malice she could not resist."

"The marriage took place very quietly at Joseph Bonaparte's house because of the absence of Napoleon, but the newly made princess was invited to visit Josephine at the palace of St. Cloud. Here was to be the triumph of her life. She spent many days in planning a toilet that should be absolutely crushing to Josephine. Whatever she wore must be a background for the famous diamonds. Finally she decided on green velvet."

"When the day came Pauline stood before a mirror and gazed at herself, with diamonds glistening in her hair, shimmering around her neck and fastened so thickly on her green velvet gown as to remind one of a moving jewel casket. She actually shed tears of joy. Then she entered her carriage and drove out to St. Cloud."

"But Josephine, though no longer young, was a woman of great subtlety as well as charm. Stories had been told to her of the green velvet, and therefore she had had her drawing room redecorated in the most uncompromising blue. It killed the green velvet completely. As for the diamonds, she met that maneuver by wearing not a single gem of any kind. Her dress was an Indian muslin with a broad hem of gold."

"Her exquisite simplicity, coupled with her dignity of bearing, made the Princess Pauline, with her shower of diamonds and her green velvet displayed against the blue, seem absolutely vulgar. Josephine was most generous in her admiration of the Borghese gems, and she kissed Pauline on departing. The victory was hers."

"There is another story of a defeat which Pauline met from another lady, one Mme. de Coustades. This was at a magnificent ball given to the most fashionable world of Paris. Pauline decided upon going and intended, in her own phrase, to blot out every woman there. She kept the secret of her toilet, and she entered the ballroom at the psychological moment, when all the guests had assembled."

"She appeared, and at sight of her the music stopped, silence fell upon the assemblage, and a sort of quiver went through every one. Her costume was of the finest muslin bordered with golden palm leaves. Four hands spotted like a leopard's skin, were wound about her head, while these in turn were supported by little clusters of golden grapes. She had copied the headdress of a Bacchante in the Louvre. All over her person were emeralds, and just beneath her breasts she wore a golden band held in place by an engraved gem. Her beautiful wrists, arms and hands were bare. She had, in fact, blotted out her rivals."

"Nevertheless Mme. de Coustades took her revenge. She went up to Pauline, who was lying on a divan to set off her loveliness, and began gazing at the princess through a double eyeglass. Pauline felt flattered for a moment and then became uneasy. The lady who was looking at her said to a companion in a tone of regret: "What a pity! She really would be lovely if it weren't for that!" "For what?" returned her escort. "Why, are you blind? It's so remarkable that you surely must see it!" "Pauline was beginning to lose her self composure. She flushed and looked wildly about, wondering what she meant. Then she heard Mme. de Coustades say:

"Why, her ears! If I had such ears as those I would cut them off!" "Pauline gave one great gasp and fainted dead away. As a matter of fact, her ears were not so bad. They were simply very flat and colorless, forming a contrast with the rosy tints of her face. But from that moment no one could see anything but those ears, and thereafter the princess wore her hair low enough to cover them."

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17

A COMPLETE VICTORY FOR LABOR LEADERS

Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison
Not Guilty in Contempt Proceedings.

Washington, May 15.—The United States Supreme Court to-day handed down a decision reversing the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals that affirmed the decision of the district court holding Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison guilty of contempt of court in violating the injunction against the boycott of the American Federation of Labor in the Bucks Stove and Range case.

As a result of the decision Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, president, vice president and secretary respectively of the Federation, will not have to serve jail sentences for contempt.

The labor leaders were completely triumphant in their cases, the Supreme Court dismissing the cases on the ground that they were not properly adjudged contempt, but should have been damage suits against the labor leaders by the Bucks Stove company.

The decision was read by Associate Justice Lamar, one of the new members of the bench. The defendants were not in court, but the news was quickly conveyed to them at American Federation of Labor headquarters.

FINAL KNOCK-OUT FOR STANDARD OIL TRUST

Washington, May 15.—The United States Supreme Court handed down its decision to-day in the Standard Oil case. The lower court was affirmed, which knocks out the oil trust. The lower court decided that the oil trust was an illegal trust.

This decision virtually settles the questions involved in the case against the American Tobacco company, and means a dissolution of the oil trust.

The defendant is allowed six months' time by the court in which to conform to the law.

The decision rendered to-day directly affects the biggest business combine in the United States, and, indirectly, nearly a hundred other business combines, modeled on the same lines.

DIKEBURST.

May 15.—Most of the tobacco plants are looking well.

Mr. Bud Taylor, of Sunnydale, made Will Peach a short visit Sunday.

Mrs. A. N. Jeffries, of this place, is visiting relatives at Bell's Run. Sunday School at Concord is progressing nicely.

FATHER CLIPPED END OF CHILD'S TONGUE

McKin, Ala., May 13.—Buchanan Monroe, a farmer, is in jail here charged with the murder of his infant child. He was arrested while walking back to his former home in Harrison county, Ga., to bury the body.

The child was only eight months old and would not nurse. Thinking it was tongue-tied, the father clipped ped the end of its tongue and it bled to death. Making a tiny coffin out of boards, he put the child in it, strapped the bundle on his shoulders and started back to Georgia. Neighbors reported the matter to the sheriff, who overtook Monroe and brought him here. He was ignorant of the fact that he had committed an alleged crime.

HEFLIN.

May 15.—Several from this place attended meeting at Mt. Hermon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Riggs and children, of this place, visited relatives at Centertown from Saturday until Sunday.

Mr. Ira Ellis and wife visited his uncle, Elden Bennett, Beda, Sunday.

Mr. Herman Pirtle, wife and children, of Noreck, spent Sunday with Mrs. Pirtle's mother and father here.

Mrs. Winnie Hefflin, of this place, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Claude Chapman, at Centertown.

Miss Eva May Thomason spent Sunday with Miss Lou Baird, in the Chapel neighborhood.

Several from this place went to Hartford shopping Saturday.

COOL SPRINGS.

May 15.—The wheat crop will be almost a failure in this section of the county on account of the hail storm of 29th of April.

Mr. Ross Davenport and family and Mr. James Davenport, of Rochester, visited in this community Sunday and attended church at Cool Springs.

Prayer meeting here is progressing nicely—80 present Saturday night.

Pastor Birch Shields filled his regular appointment at Cool Springs Baptist church Saturday and Sunday. Theme of sermon Sunday, "The Necessary Pre-requisite to the Lord's Table." A large congregation was present, it being communion day.

Mrs. Lina Dennis is on the sick list.

Master Commissioner's Sale. Ohio Circuit Court, Kentucky. Wesley Berry, et al., Plaintiffs, vs.

Belle McReynolds, et al., Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Ohio Circuit Court, rendered at the April term, 1911, in the above cause for the sum of $50.00, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 28th day of April, 1911, until paid, and $25.05 costs herein, I will offer for sale by public auction at the court house door in Hartford, on Monday, the 5th day of June, 1911, about one o'clock p. m., upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following described property, in Beaver Dam, Kentucky, to-wit:

A lot of ground 100 feet front on Barnard street, and a depth of 170 feet more or less, to an alley, being same lot or parcel of land on which decedent, Joseph Berry, formerly resided and the same deeded to Joseph Berry by Elizabeth A. Smith and Grace S. Shaver, recorded in deed book No. 9, page 211 in the office of the Clerk of the Ohio County Court.

The purchaser will be required to execute bond with approved security immediately after sale.

This 15th day of May, 1911.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

MUTINY IN THE CAMP OF THE INSURRECTORS

But Madero Quited the Situation
—Navarro Was Compelled to Leave.

Juarez, Mexico, May 13.—A supreme test, a clash between the military and apolitical authorities, was experienced by the provisional government here to-day. To-night President Madero is in complete command of the situation.

General Orozco, in anger, demanded more food and clothing for the insurrecto soldiers, and accused Madero of neglect.

The provisional president denied the charge, told Orozco he should not meddle in business outside the military, faced a crowd of soldiers with guns leveled on him, and with a few words to the recalcitrants, brought forth cheers of "Viva Madero."

Following the handling of this tense situation, Madero personally escorted the defected federal commander, Navarro, to the river and the latter got in safety to El Paso. Navarro's life had been threatened by the insurrectos.

Navarro was followed in to the river at a point above Washington Park by a mounted ranchman as his only escort, and they disappeared from sight on the American side. It is not known in what part of El Paso the federal leader has taken refuge.

Orozco to-day gathered about a hundred of his followers, all heavily armed and most of them mounted, and marched to the headquarters of Provisional President Madero. There Orozco demanded of Madero money for his unpaid men and food for their unfed stomachs.

Madero could not comply. He explained that it was impossible to grant the demands at that moment, but that arrangements would be made immediately to provide for their necessities. Orozco heatedly replied that this neglect had been borne too long.

MAXWELL.

May 13.—Prayer meeting at the M. E. Church is progressing nicely. Mrs. Angie Jarvis and Mrs. Lydia Owen, of Nuckolls, spent Thursday with Mrs. J. D. Crowe here.

Mrs. Eunice Drace, of Arkansas, who has been visiting relatives and friends in this neighborhood, returned to her home Thursday.

Miss Pearl Hudson, of Maxwell, spent Friday with Miss Ella Crowe at

Miss Myrtle Jolly has measles. Mr. Renzo Payne, of Livermore, is spending a week with his sister, Mrs. Flora Watson, of this place.

LIFE TERM GIVEN MAN WHO MURDERED AUNT

Elkton, Ky., May 13.—After only fifteen minutes of consultation, the jury in the case of Morris Banks, charged with the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Fenuel A. Sebree, at 11:35 o'clock this morning, returned a verdict of guilty, fixing the defendant's punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life.

This case was one of the hardest fought on record in this section, and testimony of the ten or more alienists who were called was believed to have been favorable to Banks. The defense's entire case was fought on the ground that the defendant was insane.

SUNNYDALE.

May 15.—The farmers are very busy planting corn. Some have to plant their crop again on account of the heavy rains.

Mr. J. T. Lowe, who has been confined to his bed for three weeks, is able to sit up again. Mr. Lowe's family are still in bed with measles.

Mrs. Nancy Wright, Chatham, Ill., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Lowe, also has the measles. She is 67 years old and is improving at present.

Several cars have been loaded here with sawlogs and there are many more to load yet.

Mr. R. A. Duke and family, of Palo, visited Mr. John Miller, at Magan, last Saturday and Sunday.

A Burglar's Awful Deed

Many not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlay, of Leadill, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at James H. Williams.
